

Canadian Children's Optimist Foundation RESPONDS TO THE CALL

THE STE-FOY OPTIMIST CLUB IS SUPPORTING A HUMANITARIAN AID

A crazy idea? Maybe, but it most certainly is an extraordinary, priceless experience. With the help of their teachers, Ms. Nicole and Ms. Manon, around forty 2nd grade youngsters from Ecole Fernand-Seguin in Quebec city, decided to help for the third straight year forty students and teachers in the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th grade who all live in Puerto Plata. The school clientele is in large part comprised of Haitians who are prohibited from attending Dominican schools.

The objective for these teachers was to sensitize their students as to the abundance that surrounds them, and their good fortune for being able to go to school with all the necessary tools to succeed. They explained to them that this was not the case for all the children of the world, and wanted to help develop awareness and humanitarian values; such as sharing, solidarity, commitment, and respect for differences. In order to foster some commitment to the cause, students are partnered up with a Dominican or a Haitian student to exchange correspondence.

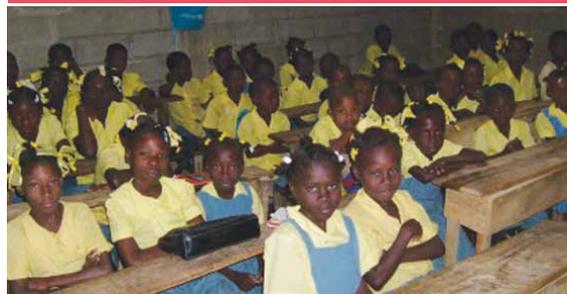

To reach their objective, the youngsters make and sell soap during the school year. This activity allows them to present their project to adults (Club Members), and other students from their school. School supplies were bought for 40 students: notebooks, pencils, erasers, rulers, backpacks. Ms. Nicole and Ms. Manon will make a special trip to personally deliver the supplies to them in mid-February. They will also have a number of tools for the students to use for scientific experiments and will participate in their school life.

The project will raise student awareness about their consumer habits, overall waste in society and other possible living alternatives. The experience will enrich the students and change their outlook to better understand human values, differences, openness toward friends, community and the world.

A sentiment of pride will allow them to feel that together, despite their young age, they can make a difference and help children in need. They will understand that individual or collective mobilization, involves a personal choice that can make all the difference in the world to a person in need.

PLEASE NOTE: In 2013-2014, Ecole Fernand-Seguin received the Toupaix trophy in the Solidarity category, a special prize from the green school group of Brundtland (E.V.B.)! This project sets itself apart among all the schools of the group by transmitting human values such as solidarity, ecology, pacifism, democracy, and openness to others.
