*Disclaimer - Clubs planning to present cash or savings bond awards to contestant winners should first consult the association for their state or province that coordinates scholastic activities and competitions to determine if such payments would result in the recipient’s forfeiture of amateur status. If a contestant loses their amateur status, they may be unable to compete in collegiate athletics and activities.

Foundations. The responsibility for record-keeping and awarding of additional funds or scholarships will be the Districts' responsibility.

Districts may choose to hold the additional funds in District accounts or contribute those funds to the Optimist International Foundation in the U.S. or the Canadian Children's Foundation in Canada. Individual donors and Clubs will receive lifetime credit for gifts for increased or additional scholarships.

The Foundations process requests from Districts to have scholarship funds returned to them. Requests must be in writing and specify the type of scholarship and the amount. The Foundations will not award a scholarship or write a check to an individual scholarship recipient or their school.

Judging the Essays

Select three qualified judges who are not acquainted with the writers of the essays. At the Club level, the judges may be Optimist Members. At all other levels of the competition, judges must be non-Optimists (Friends of Optimists are excluded and can be used as judges). Judges should have expertise in creative writing.

Always have a back-up judge in case someone gets sick. Give the judges a copy of the rules and a membership brochure to review and introduce them to the world of Optimism.

The Essay Chair supplies each judge with the judging materials. In an effort to conceal the identity of each contestant, each entry will be assigned a number by the Essay Contest Chair. The assigned number will be placed on the title page and page 1 of the essay. The title page will then be detached and retained by the Essay Contest Chair. The judges will be given the essays bearing only the assigned numbers.

The actual judging can be handled in either of the following ways:

All three judges gather and evaluate the essays and submit their completed judging forms to the Essay Chair.

Each judge is sent a packet with copies of the essays to evaluate. They return the essays and the completed judging forms by a pre-determined date to the Essay Chair.

In either case, judges should never compare scores or comments on the essays being judged. If the Chair feels there was an oversight, contact the judge directly and discuss it for re-evaluation. Contest Chairs cannot change the judges' scores or deductions!

Instructions for Master Score Sheet for Club and District Chairs

As Essay Chair, you will have 4 points for your responsibilities BEFORE turning over your entries to the judges:

1. Review entries for obvious violations of the rules. If non-conformity to the rules is so extreme that you feel the entry is not worthy of judging, as Chair you may disqualify it from further competition.
2. Number each title page and place that same number on each page of the essay. Next, detach the title page and keep it for your records. This will free the judges from any suspicion of prejudice or subjectivity.

OPTION:

For each essay to be judged, confirm the total number of words in the essay. Deduct penalty points per group of words. See Section VI-Penalties, #3.

Remember, the material in the text of the essay is counted, not the footnotes at the bottom of the page or end of the essay.

Example: ¹ The Book of Dreams, page 6-10, Steven Smith. This would not be counted in the word total, however in the text: “Dreams are an important part of a person’s development.” ₁ The quotation would be counted. Words like: a, and, the, ARE counted in the word total. Hyphenated words count as one (1) word.

If the number of words is not correctly identified, note it on the Judges Scoresheet. This will cut down on some of the time it takes judges to complete their tasks.

*Ex: Essay #2 is over 800 words and within 25-word error, deduct 5 points

Ex: Essay #3 is well under the 700 words required, 5 points x 4 groups of 25 words = 20-point deduction.

Example:

Essay #	Words counted correctly, within 25 words (50 if French)	Student Identified Count	Penalty?
1	Yes		No
2	No, 785*	805	Yes, 5 points
3	No, 592	605	Yes, 20 points

Two Additional Points to Keep in Two Additional Points to Keep in Mind:

1. In compiling scores, these should be kept in your confidence and should never be revealed, displayed or discussed.
2. In the event you have a large number of entries you may want to have a preliminary judging (separate judges) to reduce the number to a workable field. This is the decision of the Contest Chair; it is not mandatory.

Using the Master Score Sheet

Enter the points allotted to the various entries by each of the three judges on the master score sheet. After totaling the points allotted for each entry in the total column, rank the entries in the rank column. If no ties occur, you can easily determine your first, second and third-place winners.

In the case of a tie, the entry scoring the largest number of points in category 1 shall be declared the winner. If a tie still exists, each succeeding category shall be considered the tiebreaker.

Should a tie still exist through category 5, the tied essays shall be resubmitted to the judges for a second judging (no ties permitted, as before).

Remember scores are strictly confidential and should not be shared with anyone.
